1 Diamond Farming Company hereby joins in "RESPONSE TO PROPOSED CLASS ACTION 2 FILED ON BEHALF OF REBECCA LEE WILLIS ON JANUARY 4, 2007; OBJECTION TO 3 PROPOSED REVISIONS TO NOTICE FILED BY LA COUNTY WATERWORKS AND 4 ROSAMOND COMMUNITY SERVICES DISTRICT" filed by attorney Michael Fife on behalf of the 5 Antelope Valley Ground Water Agreement Association, and joins in "OBJECTION TO PROPOSED 6 CLASS ACTION FILED ON BEHALF OF REBECCA LEE WILLIS ON JANUARY 4, 2007;
7 OBJECTION TO PROPOSED REVISIONS TO NOTICE FILED BY LA COUNTY WATERWORKS
8 AND ROSAMOND COMMUNITY SERVICES DISTRICT; OBJECTION TO PROPOSED ORDER
9 RE JURISDICTION OVER TRANSFEREES OF PROPERTY; JOINDER IN AGWA'S RESPONSE
10 TO PROPOSED CLASS ACTION FILED ON BEHALF OF REBECCA LEE WILLIS ON JANUARY
11 4, 2007 AND OBJECTION TO PROPOSED REVISIONS TO NOTICE FILED BY LA COUNTY
12 WATERWORKS AND ROSAMOND COMMUNITY SERVICES DISTRICT" filed by attorney
13 Richard Zimmer on behalf of Bolthouse Properties, LLC, and Wm. Bolthouse Farms, Inc. Diamond
14 Farming Company also makes the following observations and additional objections:

15 1. The Proposed "Notice of Class Action" submitted on behalf of the Plaintiff, Rebecca Lee 16 Willis, purports to establish a non-pumping class based upon an operative date of January 18, 2001. The 17 competing "Notice of Class Action" proposed by Los Angeles County Waterworks and Rosamond
18 Community Services District purports to define a class of both pumpers and non-pumpers who own less 19 than one hundred (100) acres and uses an operative date of January 1, 2000. The fact of pumping and/or 20 non-pumping with reference to either of the two proposed operative dates would only have relevance
21 to the claims of prescription asserted by all of the purveyors. That relevancy would presumably be with 22 reference to the notice elements of prescription as well as to the effect of the doctrine of self-help. To 23 date, neither this Court nor any party has been advised as to what the claimed prescriptive period is and 24 therefore neither date as proposed has any factual or evidentiary support and/or relevancy. Thus, 25 Diamond Farming Company renews its Objection to Class Certification based upon the lack of pre-
26 hearing discovery as more thoroughly articulated in the Objection to Class Certification hearing filed 27 by Diamond Farming Company with this Court on June 27, 2007, with the supporting Declaration, 28

1 Document Nos. 5368 & 5369. Had the discovery identified in that Declaration, Document No. 5369,
2 been responded to timely, or if this Court had ordered responses to that discovery, then the operative date
3 for class definitional purposes could have been fixed with reference to the prescriptive period which 4 would have been disclosed through those responses. That previous Objection to Class Certification 5 without pre-certification discovery is hereby reasserted and restated herein.

6 2. The Proposed "Notice of Class Action" submitted to Los Angeles County Waterworks
7 and Rosamond Community Services District, purports to create a class of pumpers and non-pumpers
8 alike based upon a one hundred (100) acre limitation. The justification or explanation for the selected
9 one hundred (100) acre limitation is without evidentiary support. That proposal definitionally
10 distinguishes between non-pumpers and pumpers utilizing an operative date of January 1, 2000. There 11 is no proffered evidentiary support for nor explanation offered as to the significance of the date utilized
12 to make a distinction between pumpers and non-pumpers. Without an identified prescriptive period, 13 potential class members will have no way of knowing the potential significance of identifying the fact
14 of pumping in order to avoid being treated as a non-pumper. Thus, landowners who pump groundwater 15 during a relevant time frame but who fail to respond and affirm the fact of their pumping will, through 16 this notice procedure ipso facto, lose any water rights obtained and/or preserved under the doctrine of 17 self-help. Thus, a prospective loss of a valuable property right without adequate due process notice.

18 3. Nither Proposed Notice advises any prospective class member that they have the 19 constitutional right to have the prescriptive claims asserted by the purveyors tried to a jury of their peers.
20 Neither Notice advises that the Class Representative will hold the power to elect to waive that 21 Constitutional right. Without that information, no prospective class member can rationally make the 22 decision to defer to the Class Representative that election or to otherwise opt out of the class and insist 23 upon protecting, individually, their Constitutional rights and their due process right to a trial by jury.
