MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. INTRODUCTION

Justice requires that trials be fair and not conducted by ambush (Greyhound Corp. v. Superior Court In and For Merced County (1961) 56 Cal.2d 355, 376.). The purpose of discovery is to assist the parties in ascertaining the truth; preventing perjury; exposing false, fraudulent and sham claims and defenses; educate the parties in advance of trial as to the real value of their claims and defenses; and safeguard against surprise. Id.

AGWA's motion for protective order seeks to defeat all of these, and other, laudable goals. AGWA's motion seeks to suppress evidence. Justice and fairness are not obtained by the suppression of evidence. Fairness dictates that all parties, the classes, and the public have access to all other parties' evidence of groundwater production. Anything less is unjust. The discovery in this case is calculated to elicit this information – and, hopefully, facilitate resolution through the pretrial exchange of evidence.

II. CALULATION OF CURRENT GROUNDWATER RIGHTS REQUIRES EVIDENCE OF CURRENT PRODUCTION

This Court must receive evidence regarding the properties currently owned by the parties to this case and the amount groundwater currently used on those properties. Property that was leased, property that has been sold, property that does not have any current groundwater use will not support the award of groundwater production rights in this overdrafted basin.

All parties ought to know well before trial what property the other parties own, and if that property uses groundwater. These are critical issues fundamental to the dispute before the Court and which will likely be addressed in the next trial phase of the case, and future phases as well.

1 This Court must receive sufficient evidence of current groundwater pumping and use. This
2 Court must decide what proportion of the pumping by each particular party should be restricted.
3 City of Pasadena v. City of Alhambra (1949) 33 Cal.2d 908, 924. The requested information is
4 critically important to the issues of pumping and use because it relates to the ability to pump
5 groundwater.

6
7 Justice and fairness require that each party to this case see this evidence before trial and
8 have the opportunity to have that evidence examined by experts and have knowledgeable
9 witnesses deposed.

10
11 III. PARTIES WHO WISH TO ASSERT THE SELF HELP DEFENSE TO 12 PRESCRIPTION MUST PROVIDE EVIDENCE RELATING TO THAT
13 DEFENSE

14 The landowner parties assert the affirmative defense of “self help.” Self help is a means for 15 an overlying owner to partially mitigate against the elimination of their rights due to prescription
16 (City of Los Angeles v. City of San Fernando (1975) 14 Cal.3d 199, 293). “[A]n overlying user
17 may maintain rights to water by continuing to extract it in the face of an adverse appropriative use.
18 Such is the doctrine of “self help.” (Hi-Desert County Water Dist. v. Blue Skies Country Club, Inc.
19 (1994) 23 Cal.App.4th 1723, 1731).

20 Prescription attaches for the amount of groundwater taken over a five year period for any 21 five year period (Civ. Code, § 1007; Pasadena v. Alhambra, supra, 33 Cal.2d at 922 and 933).
22 Since the prescriptive period is any five year period during the time of overdraft, self help would 23 also be a defense to prescription during any five year period (Los Angeles v. San Fernando, supra, 24 14 Cal.3d at 293, fn. 101). “Private defendants should be awarded the full amount of their
25 overlying rights, less any amounts of such rights lost by prescription, from the ... native
26 groundwater.’ That is, overlying users retain priority but lose amounts not pumped.” Hi-Desert
27 County Water Dist., supra, 23 Cal.App.4th at 1732, citing Los Angeles v. San Fernando.
28

1 “Ever since the inception of water law in California, the Courts have held that because
2 water is a species of property, title by prescription could be acquired by adverse use for the five-
3 year period prescribed by the California Code for acquiring title by adverse possession. There has 4 been no deviation from this principle. . . . all that is required is that the ordinary elements of 5 adverse possession be present . . . continuous and uninterrupted use for a statutory period” (U.S. v.
6 Fallbrook Public Utility Dist. (S.D. Cal. 1952) 108 F.Supp. 72, 82)

7
8 Prescription started to run in 1945, when the overdraft started. The Court and the Public
9 Water Suppliers have the statutory and equitable right to know if the landowner parties wish to 10 assert the self help defense, for what years they intend to assert it, and what evidence (if any)
11 supports that defense. Again, these matters are clearly relevant to the case because they establish 12 the existence, or non-existence, of an affirmative defense that is disputed and pending before the 13 Court. There is no reason for the Overlying Parties to be coy about their contentions or the 14 evidence supporting them; they should comply with the discovery and “lay their cards on the 15 table,” so that everyone can intelligently prepare for trial and resolution of the issues.

17 Equally important, those parties who do not intend to present the self help defense for any 18 year since 1945 should so admit. No evidence of historical groundwater production would need to 19 be provided by those parties who do not wish to assert this defense. All of the parties deserve to 20 know who makes contentions of self help and who does not.

21
22 IV. MOVING PARTY HAS PROVIDED NO EVIDENCE REGARDING THE
23 ALLEGED BURDEN OF RESPONDING TO THIS DISCOVERY

24 AGWA states in the motion that responding to the written discovery would be burdensome.
25 No evidence has been provided to this court regarding how it would be burdensome. A party
26 asserting that discovery is burdensome and oppressive must demonstrate that the amount of work
27 required to respond to the discovery at issue is so great, and the utility of the information sought is 28

1 so small, as to defeat the ends of justice to require the discovery to be answered. Columbia
2 Broadcasting System, Inc. v. Superior Court (1968) 263 Cal.App.2d 12, 19. The objecting party
3 must demonstrate the amount of work necessary to prepare the answer, and a mere conclusionary
4 statement that substantial work would be involved is insufficient to carry this burden. West Pico
5 Furniture Co. of Los Angeles. Superior Court (1961) 56 Cal.2d 407, 418.

6
7 Respectfully, it is simply not burdensome in any substantial way for any party to this case
8 to identify the real property owned, how much groundwater is used on that property, and 9 documents that support that use (if any exist, and if not, to so state). Certainly, no showing has 10 been made indicating how much work would be needed for any particular party to provide that 11 information or those documents. Even if they could, the utility of the information sought is very 12 high – this information goes to the very heart of contested issues before the Court, which is the 13 ultimate question of which landowners get to pump groundwater.

15 There is no order of this Court, or agreement, between the Parties, regarding what period of 16 time will be used to determine current pumping. However, whether this case is settled or tried,
17 each Party must know what the current groundwater use is on each of many parcels of real
18 property at issue. Each Party must provide to the court, and every other party, their evidence which 19 support their current groundwater claims.

20
21 For those parties who wish to assert the self help defense, it is not burdensome to provide
22 the evidence which relates to that defense. Providing evidence which relates to an intended
23 affirmative defense four months prior to trial is not unreasonable or burdensome. This Court has 24 been provided no evidence that this historical research will be burdensome. If a Party intends to 25 prove their historical water use through water meter, electrical, or diesel records they presumably 26 have that documentary evidence in their possession now. Making a copy of those records is not 27 burdensome if the records exist at all; by this point in the case, those records should have been
28

1 found anyway by the parties themselves. On the other hand, if the records do not exist, the time
2 has come to say so.

4 The prescription claim has been present for many years. Presumably, the landowners have
5 evaluated their claims, and have presumably evaluated their self-help defense to this claim. The 6 other parties are entitled by statute to learn what evidence backs these claims up. Slightly more
7 than two months from when the Court will hear this motion, the landowners must designate their
8 experts. Precipitant witness depositions will also be taken. This discovery is needed to help
9 prepare for these depositions.

10
11 It is the burden of all parties who wish to assert the self help defense to provide evidence of 12 their historical pumping. Perhaps some parties would like to avoid responding to this discovery
13 because they will be required to admit they have no evidence of historical groundwater use. Any 14 party with adequate evidence of their historical groundwater use, ought to be eager to provide it.
15 That some landowner parties attempt to suppress this evidence, and not respond to discovery,
16 indicates they have no such evidence, and do not wish to admit it.

18 This Court could and should have been provided with a time estimate of the number of 19 documents that will need to be reviewed or a document page court. However, this Court has been 20 provided with no evidence whatever regarding the effort it will take to respond to this discovery.

22 No Party will ever wish to admit that they do not have adequate evidence to support an 23 affirmative defense. But ascertaining the existence, or non-existence, of evidence is what trials and 24 litigation are all about: litigation is a search for the truth, not a competition of bald contentions.
25 Discovery is how the parties test, and if possible prove up, their contentions against actual 26 evidence.

1 Therefore, there is no reason to deny the Parties this discovery or to grant the protective
2 order. The evidence sought by this discovery is at the core of what this litigation is all about. The
3 motion should be denied, and the Parties should provide responses to the discovery. Trial is in 4 February and the parties must provide this court with evidence of their respective rights to
5 groundwater, including the self help defense. No stay should be imposed because it will hinder
6 trial preparation.

7
8 V. IT IN UNFAIR TO STAY DISCOVERY NOW AFTER MOVING PARTY
9 SUCCESSFULLY ARGUED FOR NO DISCOVERY STAY, AND
10 THEREAFTER SERVED DISCOVERY

11 Discovery by all parties was partially stayed until after the Phase 2 trial. This stay was 12 lifted in in the first few months of 2009 at the request of the landowners. On April 21, 2009, many 13 landowners jointly served extensive written discovery upon the Public Water Suppliers. The 14 Public Water Suppliers responded to this discovery on June 9, 2009.

15
16 The discovery for which AGWA seeks a protective order was served November 10, and 11,
17 2011. Open extensions were then given to the parties who requested them, including AGWA. At 18 the hearing on July 9, 2012, this court stated regarding this discovery "The time to respond starts
19 to run on September the 12th" (Page 91, lines 3-4). On September 12th, all extensions to respond
20 to the discovery were withdrawn and parties were requested to respond on October 12, 2012, a
21 mere four months prior to trial.

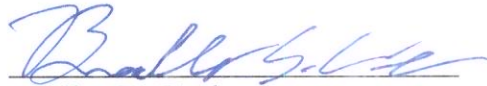

22
23 It is unjust for the landowning parties to serve discovery, and receive evidence in response.
24 Then, seek to deny the Public Water Suppliers effort to obtain similar and crucial evidence using 25 the very same method.
26
27
28

1 VI. CONCLUSION

2
3 This court ought to deny the motion for protective order.
